FOREWORD

Here is your 1953 Franoca, a pictorial story of the informality merging with dignity of traditional ideals as we formed the pattern of the day at Franklinton Public School. Our school spirit made up of so many things: friendships . . . term papers . . . football games . . . socials . . . exams . . . pep rallies . . . basketball games . . . devotions . . . lab experiments . . . gab sessions between classes . . . publishing of the school paper and annual . . . school movies . . . vocational guidance displays . . . Alma Mater . . . graduation . . . good-byes . . . twelve years of a great panorama that seem like a dream as we look back . . . for these little things that mean so much to all of us, we present a lasting story—the 1953 Franoca. As you turn its pages, may it be as though you were turning through your life—each a pleasant picture, a happy thought, a dream come true.

To show our appreciation for his guidance and leadership, kindness and generosity, we dedicate the 1953 Franoca to our wonderful superintendent, Francis Halstead Eason, who has worked untiringly during these past two years to make our school a better place.

WE BECOME MORE CREATIVE THROUGH LANGUAGE ARTS AND BETTER ACQUAINTED WITH OTHERS THROUGH LANGUAGES

Through language arts, students learn the important art of communication—vivid speech, intelligible writing, appreciative listening, reading with comprehension, and the skillful use of books and libraries.

The study of foreign languages helps in promoting international good-feeling and understanding. From a study of French the student is introduced to the country of France and its culture.

Miss Edith Jackson teaches English and French.

WE ALSO BECOME BETTER ACQUAINTED WITH OTHERS THROUGH SOCIAL STUDIES

A major objective of the social studies program is the development of fundamental concepts concerning the economic, social, and cultural life of the people through exploring countries abroad, states within the United States, and our own community.

Mr. Samuel M. Fishel teaches the Social Studies courses.

Samuel M. Fishel

SCHOOL FACULTY

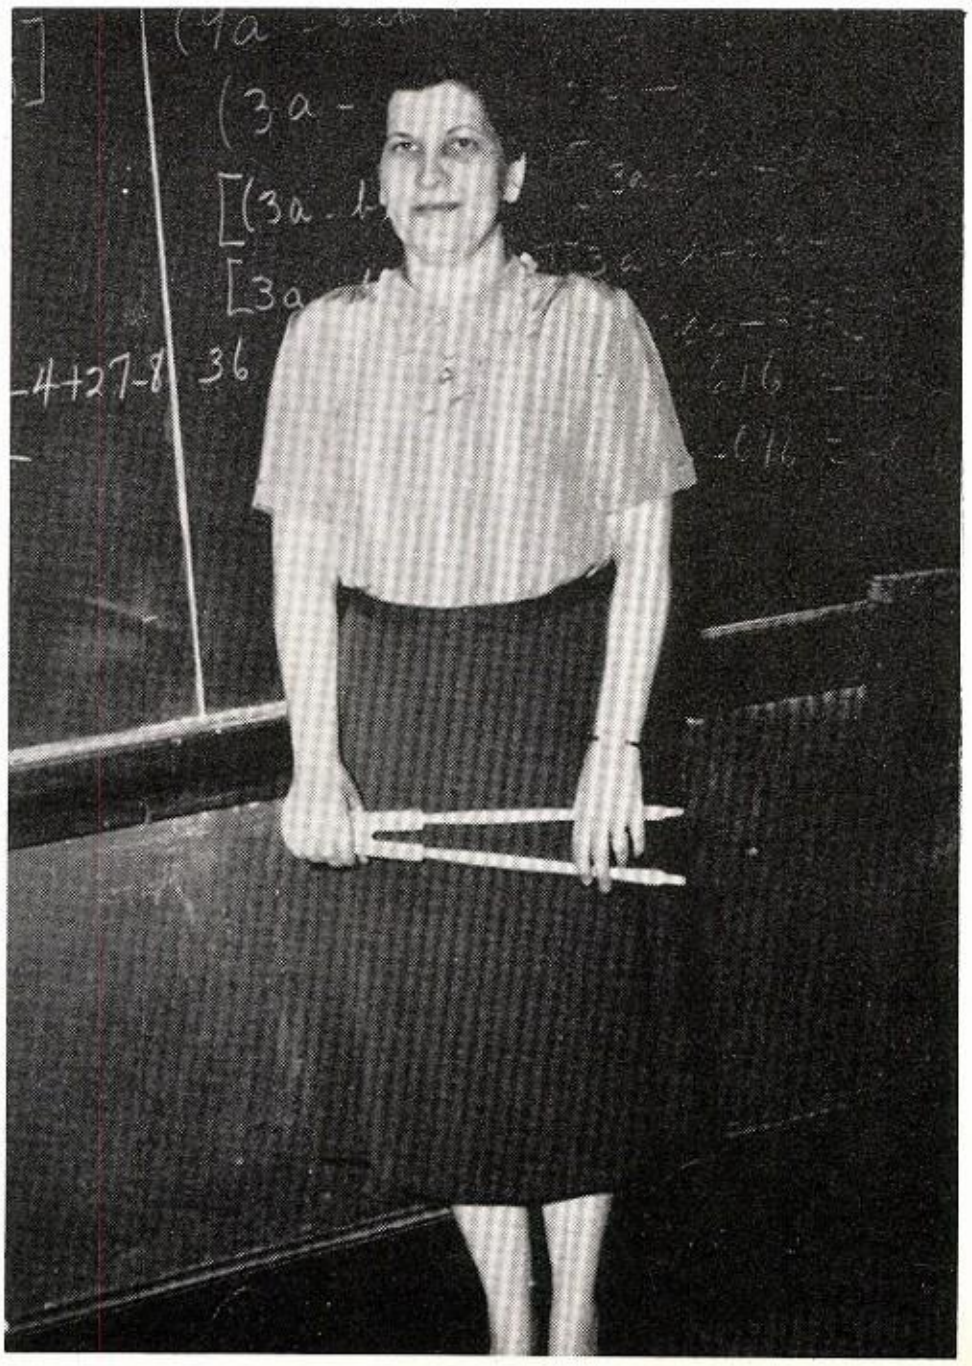
WE BECOME MORE
DISCRIMINATING
THROUGH SCIENCE

Today, more than ever before, if we are to understand our civilization and surroundings, and if we are to make the wise decisions, it is necessary for us to have some knowledge of science principles and methods, and to develop scientific attitudes.

Mr. Richard W. Sawyer, Jr., the High School Principal, teaches Science and Chemistry.

Richard W. Sawyer

Mrs. Margaret Pruette



WE ALSO BECOME MORE
DISCRIMINATING
THROUGH MATHEMATICS

Mathematics helps to equip the learner, both as a student and later as an adult, to live more proficiently, more happily, and more intelligently in the quantitative society of today.

Mrs. Margaret Pruette teaches Mathematics, Algebra, Geometry and Trigonometry.

Mrs. Mary Jay Holding

WE BECOME BETTER HOMEMAKERS THROUGH HOME ECONOMICS

The study of Home Economics teaches a student the fundamental principles of foods and homemaking. Students learn to make their homes, as well as themselves, more attractive.

Mrs. Mary Jay Holding teaches Home Economics.

WE BECOME BETTER PREPARED FOR PRACTICAL WORK THROUGH SHOP AND AGRICULTURAL COURSES

Emphasis is placed on shop work and courses in Agriculture as basic training for future vocations, such as farming, as well as a means of developing simple tool skills and mechanical abilities useful in the home, school, and avocational life of the pupil.

Mr. Tommie Stephens teaches the Agricultural Courses.

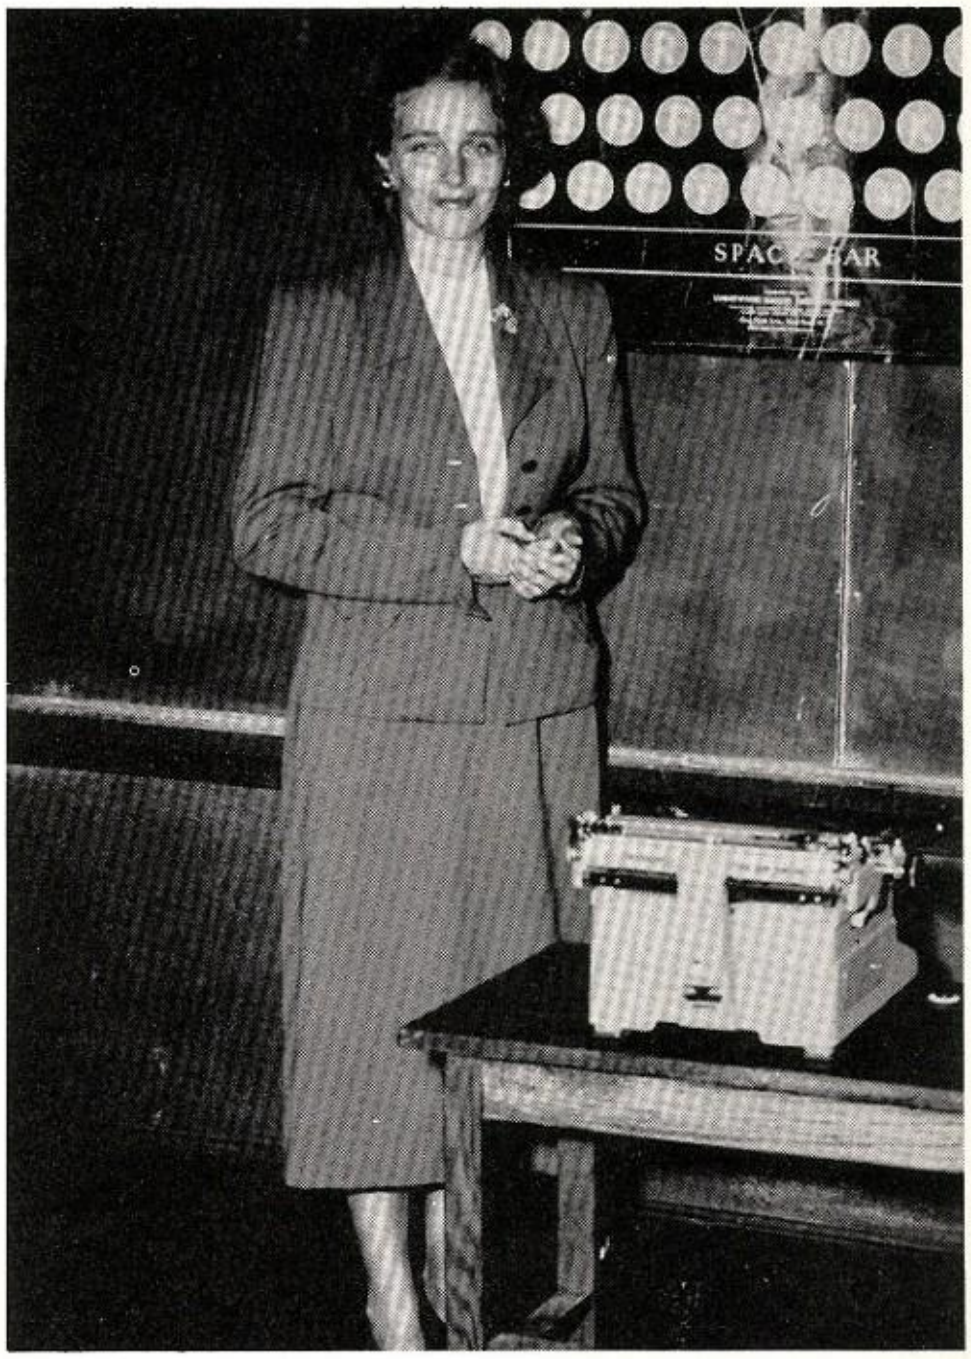
Tommie Stephens

WE BECOME MORE EFFICIENT AND ACCURATE THROUGH COMMERCIAL COURSES

Class work in the commercial courses and practical problems in office procedure prepare the student to take his place in the business world.

Typing emphasizes speed and accuracy. An important aim of this department is to offer practical training for future use in the business world.

Mrs. Sophia Pike teaches the Commercial Courses.



Mrs. Elizabeth Blount

Mrs. Sophia Pike

WE BECOME WELL INFORMED THROUGH THE LIBRARY

Attractive displays of current books awaken the interests of students to read more books.

The library keeps abreast of the times. Here students find companionship with books and information of many kinds.

The library is under the supervision of Mrs. Elizabeth Blount.

ALICE ROGERS

Alice Rogers, who is unable to be in school with her classmates, continues her studies at home under the direction of Mrs. Electa Hardy.

This picture of Alice was taken at a P.-T. A. meeting in which she told about her favorite studies. She was honored by the Class of '54, her class, who presented her with a beautiful bouquet of American Beauty roses.

Dear Martians,

In the following pages you will see the Senior Superlatives that were chosen from the Senior Class to represent them when they all land on Mars.

We sincerely hope that they are prepared to face anything they might meet once on Mars.

We are looking forward to the time when we too shall take such a journey.
